BILL TO PROVIDE HOME FOR DEFECTIVE CHILDREN

PREFERENCE TO VETERANS

Of Civil and Spanish Wars In Appointment Under Civil Service, Provision of Benedict's Measure—Proposed State Law to Force Property Owners to Clean Sidewalks of Snow.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Columbus, O., April 9.—Funds for building a home and school for deaf, crippled and blind children would be provided for in a bill introduced today by Representative Pence of Highland county. An old statute authorizes the establishment of a home for crippled children, but made no appropriation. The Pence bill also carries an appropriation of $265,000 for aid of weak school districts during the next two years.

Property owners in municipalities would be compelled under threat of prosecution, to keep sidewalks clean of snow, according to a bill introduced by Representative Benedict of Lucas. The city government might do this and levy a special assessment against abutting property, the measure provides. Most cities have ordinances effecting this, but there is no state law.

Mr. Benedict introduced another bill authorizing officials to give preference to veterans of the Civil and Spanish wars in naming civil service appointees. It would apply to state, county, city, township and school districts.

Representative Bruck of Hamilton introduced a bill ordering the state liquor licensing board to pay $112 to Louis A. Traub of Cincinnati for stenographic services performed for the Hamilton county licensing board.

The house passed a bill of Representative Smith of Butler, authorizing the school board of St. Clair, Butler county, to pay Emma Eaton $310 for her services as a teacher.

The house also passed a bill by Representative Hale of Summit, authorizing township trustees to control and improve public parks and public squares and to levy taxes for that purpose on consent of the people.

The legislature was moved to hold its annual reunion in Cedar Point and Akron, O., in August by resolutions presented today. Representative Bragg of Erie county introduced the Cedar Point invitation and Representative Hale of Summit, that for Akron. Cincinnati also has been urged formally as the place for the reunion, and Put-in-Bay interests expect to invite the legislature to hold its reunion there.

The substitute Smith-Mallow bill to reorganize the state agricultural department, was passed finally by the house today on recommendation of a conference committee's report. The house was forced to accede to the senate's demands that no limit be placed on the compensation to be paid owners of live stock slaughtered to prevent spread of disease.

Previously the house had amended the bill to provide that compensation should be restricted to the amount for which the animal was returned for taxation. The senate refused to concur. Nearly a score of Republican representatives who favored retention of this provision voted against the conference committee's report today, but changed their votes to "yes," when it was discovered that a majority had not been secured and that the

Merchants' Association At First Annual Meeting Heard Reports That Were Inspiring

The first annual meeting and banquet of the Newark Merchants' Association held at the Hotel Warden last night was a distinct success.

The reports submitted by the officers showed surprisingly good results from the year's effort, the addresses of the evening were inspiring, the dinner service was splendid, the attendance included practically every member of the association and a feeling of good fellowship and co-operation prevailed. Marsh's orchestra furnished good music during the evening.

The principal address of the evening was given by Hon. B. F. Murphy, President of the Chamber of Commerce of Steubenville, Ohio. Mr. Murphy is a successful business man of fine appearance, pleasing address and happy form of expression. He gave a splendid talk and the applause at the conclusion of Mr. Murphy's address was in itself evidence of the good impression made by the speaker.

The Newark Merchants' Association was organized April 8, 1914, at which time Messrs. A. R. Lindorf, W. H. Mazey, George Hermann, A. S. Stephan and J. S. Elliott were elected as trustees for a period of two years and Messrs. G. E. Besanecney, J. M. Mitchell, T. J. Evans, T. M. Edmiston and S. E. Alban were chosen for the one year term. The board organized by electing Mr. Lindorf president, Mr. Stephan secretary and Mr. Besanecney, treasurer.

Last night five men were elected as trustees for a two year term: G. E. Besanecney, J. M. Mitchell, T. J. Evans, H. H. Harris and John C. Krieg. The new board of ten trustees will meet within a short time for organization.

The main dining room of the Warden was artistically arranged for the occasion last night, cut flowers being a feature of the table decoration. The turkey dinner was thoroughly enjoyed and the toastmaster, Mr. Lindorf, had a happy thought when he announced that the speakers would be introduced between courses of the banquet. Eight local speakers were on the program, each having been assigned to give a five minute talk.

Toastmaster Lindorf first introduced Secretary A. S. Stephan whose report of the work accomplished during the first year of the association's history was very interesting. Mr. Stephan said that more than eighty different advertising propositions had been passed upon by the committee and that he had figured a direct saving to members of the association of fully $5,500.

John C. Krieg of the New King Company talked on "Co-operation" and he did it well. Mr. Krieg knows that good results follow co-operation and he argued for a closer friendship among members and for greater consideration of and friendship for the people of the farming communities.

J. V. Haas, who by the way is a brother of former State Senator Haas of this district, gave an outline of the credit plan in Newark a work that he assumed last February. The association is establishing a credit rating system that will be accurate and just to the merchant and customer as well.

T. M. Edmiston speaking on the value of the association said that he did not consider the cost of membership an item of expense, but an investment and he had no hesitation in saying that the investment yielded him a splendid dividend the past year.

H. H. Harris, of the firm Sperry & Harris was asked to tell why members should attend the monthly meetings. Mr. Harris said it was a duty for each member to be in sympathy with the officers of the organization and that attendance at the meetings was not only helpful to the individual but was an inspiration to the men in charge of the work.

G. E. Besanecney was assigned to speak on the value of a credit department, but his absence from the city made it necessary for Mr. Be-

How a French General Kisses a Lieutenant.

General Reverard and Lieutenant Kula.

Generals in the United States army do not kiss lieutenants, but they do in France, and this is proof of it. For here is shown General Reverard kissing Lieutenant Kula. However, there was some reason for it. Lieutenant Kula is a very brave man. His crutch bears witness to his wounds. He proved his bravery in a way which appealed so strongly to the French government that the decoration of the Legion of Honor was awarded him. General Reverard, before a large group of soldiers, presented the decoration and pinned it on the hero's coat. Thereupon, in the French fashion he planted a kiss on the cheek of the lieutenant.

Carranza's "Great Victory" Was A Short Skirmish from Which His Forces Were Withdrawn April 7

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Washington, April 9.—State department advices from Irapuato, near where Carranza forces claim to have decisively defeated Villa forces, say there was a short skirmish, April 7, and that the Carranza forces retreated toward Queretaro. The message added that Carranza forces also had been withdrawn from the vicinity of Guadalajara.

bill would be killed. The final vote was 73 to 23.

When the senate takes the perfunctory action of accepting the conference committee's report, the Smith-Mallow bill will be ready for the governor's signature. It replaces the present agricultural commission with a board of 10 members, appointed by the governor. The substitute bill was rushed through both houses this week to guard against possible defeat in passage of the original bill caused by an unsuccessful attempt by the house to attach an emergency clause.

NEWSPAPER MAN APPOINTED.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Columbus, April 9.—Governor Willis today appointed Merritt C. Speidel of Piqua, newspaper publisher, a member of the board of library commissioners to succeed the late Oran F. Hypes, of Springfield for a term ending in 1920.

LEIBNECHT NOT AT FRONT.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Geneva, via Paris, April 9.—A Swiss Socialist, who has returned here from a trip to Germany, is authority for the statement that Karl Liebknecht, the Socialist deputy in the Reichstag, has not been seen at the front as recently was reported.

CLEVELAND MAN IS STILL MISSING FROM HIS HOME

FORMER CONGRESSMAN'S ACCOUNTS AS RECEIVER SHOW DISCREPANCIES.

Federal Judge Removed J. H. Cassidy From Positions After Audit of His Books.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Cleveland, April 9.—While accountants today worked on the books of the Cleveland & Pittsburgh Coal Co. and other concerns, for which James H. Cassidy, former congressman, was receiver, relatives and business associates sought to solve the mystery of his disappearance Monday afternoon and to learn his whereabouts. Cassidy was removed as receiver late yesterday by order of Federal Judge Clarke, because he failed to give the court an accounting last Monday, as ordered. Attorney Carl D. Friedman, newly appointed receiver, said today that indications are that the discrepancy in Cassidy's accounts as concerns the Cleveland & Pittsburgh Coal Co. amount to between $16,000 and $20,000. An audit of the missing man's books is expected to be completed during today.

Cassidy also was removed by Judge Clarke as receiver for the Standard Contracting company of Cleveland, and the Dexter Mining company of Brilliant, O. Indications are, it is said, that discrepancies as regards these two companies are small.

Mrs. Cassidy, wife of the missing man, said today that she is certain that her husband, whom she has not seen since Monday, has been taken ill and that when he is located, he will be able to give a satisfactory account of his business affairs and explain his absence.

Besides Judge Clarke's action in Cleveland, Judge Sater of the Columbus federal district today began an investigation into the affairs of the Dexter coal company, of Brilliant, in which Cassidy held a receivership with J. C. Ault, of Steubenville. Judge Sater empower would be introduced between courses of the banquet. Eight local speakers were on the program, each having been assigned to give a five minute talk.

ed Ault to sign whatever vouchers are necessary to continue business. Ault says he telephoned Cassidy at his home about 2.30 Monday afternoon and that Cassidy informed him he had met with an automobile accident but would be able to reach his office, where Ault then was, in an hour or two. Ault said he waited until night, but that Cassidy failed to keep the appointment.

Wrong man was put under arrest. Elmira, N. Y., April 9.—The man held at Youngstown, Ohio, suspected of being John Penny, wanted here in connection with the murder of Chief of Police Finnell and Detective Cradwell, is not the man sought. This was determined today by a photograph of the Youngstown captive which reached here.

Austrian Operations Fail In Carpathians; Russians Occupying Main Summits

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Petrograd, April 9.—Via London.—With the Russian forces in possession of all the main summits and slopes of the Beskid mountains, army officers here assert that the Austrian operations in the Carpathians have collapsed. The Russian general staff is now considering the best approach into Hungary.

The operations, centering about Mezolaboroz, including the important points of Barfield, Lupkow and Usok, appear virtually to have ended, with the Austrians on the defensive along the whole line and perceptibly weakened. The deep snow which still covers the Carpathian ridges stands in the way of a rapid advance into Hungary. Once this difficulty is overcome and the Russians reach the southern slopes, where signs of spring are beginning to appear, the most serious obstacle to a further advance will be the artificial defenses which it is assumed have been erected.

UNRULY MULES ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR A STRIKE IN COAL MINE.

(Associated Press Telegram.) Wilkesbarre, Pa., April 9.—Stubborn and unruly mules were responsible for a strike of 1300 employees of the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal company yesterday, which completely tied up the operations. The company issued an order directing the men to enter and leave one of the veins through the main gateway instead of by outlets and cross cuts. The miners objected to the order, declaring that they were compelled to carry dynamite into the chamber and that because of the presence of "stubborn" and unruly mules in the gangways, our lives are endangered. Officials of the company declined to rescind the order and the men went on strike.

GERMAN SUBMARINES ORDERED OUT OF NORWAY

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Copenhagen, April 9.—Via London.—A group of Norwegian armmen who have been scouring the coasts of Norway investigating rumors that a German submarine base was located in some sheltered spot of these neutral waters, found several German submarines gathered behind the cliffs at Bergen Bay. The submarines were ordered to leave immediately or else be interned for the remainder of the war.

Benjamin G. Paskus, counsel for the J. B. Greenhut company, asserted that the liabilities were about $3,500,000 and assets about $7,000,000.

Without question the business will be reorganized, Mr. Paskus asserted. The firm had virtually closed its banking business, he said, returning to depositors approximately $5,000,000 during the last year.

Adverse business conditions, during the past year and inability of the firm to meet immediate pressing obligations, were assigned as reasons for seeking a receivership.

Another thing blamed for the failure was the fact that it was com-

Germany declares, however, that the case will have to be taken before a prize court to establish facts regarding ownership of ship and cargo. Germany's contention is that the Frye's cargo of wheat was "contraband" because it was consigned "for orders" to Queenstown, declared to be a British fortified port.

RECEIVERS ARE NAMED FOR STORE

The J. B. Greenhut Department Business, New York, Becomes Involved

ASSETS AND LIABILITIES IN TERMS OF MILLIONS.

$200,000 * INDEBTEDNESS

To a Securities Company is the Basis of the Suit Upon Which the Receivers Were Appointed—Withdraw From Private Banking Business March 1, But Paid All Depositors.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) New York, April 9.—Receivers were appointed today by Federal Judge Hand for the J. B. Greenhut company, which operates a large department store in this city.

The receivership was applied for in a suit brought by the Monmouth Securities company and the defendant consented to the appointment. Walter C. Noyes and William A. Marble were named as receivers by the court. The amount of their bond was fixed at $100,000.

The J. B. Greenhut company had an authorized and outstanding capital stock of $6,000,000, and a bond issue of $6,000,000 sinking fund gold six per cent bonds. Under the provision of the bond issue, $150,000 worth of the bonds were to be retired annually. The Central Trust company of New York is trustee. Two corporate changes have been made since the incorporation of the original firm, Greenhut & company, November 18, 1910.

The first occurred when Greenhut & company became consolidated with the Siegel-Cooper company under the name of the Greenhut-Siegel-Cooper company in May, of last year. The firm name was changed to the J. B. Greenhut company. J. B. Greenhut is president of the firm. The department stores conducted by the company, long known as the Siegel-Cooper store, occupies both blocks on Sixth avenue between Eighteenth and Nineteenth streets.

Assets of the store are listed in the complaint at $7,455,419, including merchandise, cash and accounts receivable. The liabilities, it is stated, aggregate $3,512,000, not including the mortgage liabilities amounting to approximately $2,950,000.

J. B. Greenhut, president of the firm, is treasurer of the Monmouth Securities company, upon whose application the receivers were appointed. The suit is based upon indebtedness of approximately $200,000 alleged to be due to the securities company and representing money loaned to the Greenhut company.

In connection with its department stores, the J. B. Greenhut company conducted a private bank. In December last, however, the firm gave notice that it intended to withdraw from the banking business and that no interest on deposits would be paid after January 1, 1915. The date fixed by the firm for its withdrawal from the banking business was March 1. This gave the depositors two months' notice and it is believed all availed themselves of it to withdraw their savings.

Benjamin G. Paskus, counsel for the J. B. Greenhut company, asserted that the liabilities were about $3,500,000 and assets about $7,000,000.

Without question the business will be reorganized, Mr. Paskus asserted. The firm had virtually closed its banking business, he said, returning to depositors approximately $5,000,000 during the last year.

FRENCH ARE NOW TAKING OFFENSIVE

General Joffre Pushing His Advance; Germans In Counter Attacks

MOVEMENT GOING FORWARD FROM THREE DIRECTIONS

AND FROM THREE BASES

Teuton Resistance is Very Stubborn, As Evidenced By Leaving 1,000 Dead at One Point of Attack—Russia Endeavoring to Force Hungary From the Dual Monarchy.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) London, April 9.—The French movement between the Meuse and the Lorraine frontier is developing a distinct offensive, with General Joffre pushing his advance while the Germans are making fierce counter attacks. This is the substance of the latest dispatches reaching London from the continent.

According to an analysis of the situation, by the French general staff, the French offensive movement of the last few days has been on three sectors. The first is on a front of 14 miles to the east of Verdun, the actual line running southeast from a point near Etain, the second on a front between St. Mihiel and Pont A Mousson, where the French are attacking from the south and the third is in the north in the vicinity of Guisainville, where the French now dominate the valley of the Orne, with attack.

The French advance is thus being pressed from three bases in three different directions. According to Paris official reports, French forces on fronts many miles long have occupied new ground measuring from several hundred yards to two miles deep. That the German resistance to these advances has been stubborn is strikingly indicated by the French report that the Germans, on one point of the attack, left 1,000 dead on the field.

From the diplomatic standpoint, interest is again centering in Greece, where former Premier Venizelos, apparently despairing of obtaining the support of King Constantine in his efforts to secure a retraction of the repudiation of his policy by the present cabinet, has decided to retire from politics and may leave the country.

Special dispatches from Hungary express the belief that the Russians are fighting their battle in the Carpathians for deliberate political ends, the chief of which is to sever Hungary from the dual monarchy. Some confirmation is given this theory by the reported alarm in Italy over the possibility of Austria-Hungary concluding a separate peace with Russia.

Dispatches received here by way of Athens set forth that the allied fleet facing the Dardanelles is not far from Bolair, on the Gallipoli peninsula, but this news is without official confirmation.

Nothing has come to hand to confirm the rumor circulated yesterday that Germany had declared war upon Holland. Military movements are reported along the Dutch border but such activity continually has marked Holland's uneasy neutrality in the past and consequently the present developments are not investigated with marked significance.

AMERICAN DOCTOR VICTIM OF TYPHOID

Germany Will Pay Indemnity For Destruction of Frye, But Claims Act Was Justifiable

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Washington, April 9.—Secretary Ryan had before him today the reply of the German government to the recent American note regarding the destruction of the American ship William P. Frye, together with her cargo of wheat by the German auxiliary cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich in which Germany announced her intention of compensating the owners of the Frye. The United States government had claimed an indemnity of $228,059.54. The German gov-

Germans Accuse French Of Using Dum Dum Bullets And Shells Producing Asphyxia

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Berlin, April 9.—By wireless to Sayville, N. Y.—The German army headquarters report issued under date of April 9, said:

"The Belgians again were rejected from Drei Grachten. The place was destroyed. Two Belgian officers and 100 men were made prisoners and two machine guns were taken.

"As a reply to the French bombardment, places behind the German front at Reims, where strong forces and batteries had been assembled, were shelled with incendiary bombs. "To the north of the wood of Beauséjour, northwest of Les Mesnil, the Germans took several French trenches and two machine guns.

"In the Argonne a French infantry charge in which the French threw bombs with asphyxiating effect failed.

"Fighting between the Meuse and the Moselle continued with increasing violence. The French had the heaviest losses while their charges were absolutely without success.

"On Sudelkopf dum dum bullets were found on a man of the French 34th regiment who was taken prisoner.

"On Hartmanns-Weilerkopf, an artillery duel took place.

"In the eastern war theatre no event, with the exception of some fighting developed to the east of Kailwaya but which had not yet terminated, occurred."

GOOD REASONS

why you should carefully consider the advantages offered by this Home Building Association Company of Newark when you are thinking of investing some money:

The majority of investments are far too permanent. To place your money in the average business enterprise is one thing; to get it back again when you badly need it is another.

During more than a third of a century's business no depositor in this "Old Home" has ever been asked to wait for his funds when he called for them.

During this third of a century our patrons have always enjoyed the protection of first mortgage security and the regular payment of 4 per cent interest.

Is it any wonder that those who are investors here today number into the thousands?

DISCUSS THEIR EXPERIENCES UNDER WAR CONDITIONS AT UNIQUE CONGRESS

Held in Brussels for Scientific Discussion — German Governor General Attended.

(Associated Press Telegram) Berlin, April 9.—(By Wireless to Sayville, N. Y.)—Included in the news given out today by the Overseas News Agency is the following:

"A unique medical congress was held at Brussels, April 6 and April 7 in times of peace, it is the custom of the surgeons of Germany to hold an annual meeting for the purpose of scientific discussion in some German cities. In so much as most of these surgeons are engaged in military duty, the congress met here during the Easter holidays at Brussels. The experiences of the surgeons under war conditions were thoroughly discussed.

"The congress came to an end with a banquet attended by Governor General von Bissing, who made a patriotic speech. A telegram was received from Emperor William, who said that the unexcelled work of the German medical corps had saved the lives and health of numerous heroes and that the German army and the German people had full confidence in medical science."

One of the Greenhut company stores had long been known as the Siegel-Cooper store. The use of the Siegel name after the failure of his enterprises, it was thought, contributed largely to the Greenhut firm's misfortunes.

The business will be continued. In a statement issued today, counsel estimates assets at more than double the liabilities.

Business at the department stores of the J. B. Greenhut company was uninterrupted by the receivership proceedings.

LORIMER CHARGED WITH CONSPIRACY; MUST FACE TRIAL

(Associated Press Telegram) Chicago, April 9.—William Lorimer United States Senator and other officials of the defunct La Salle Street Trust and Savings bank must stand trial on state charges of conspiring to wreck the institution. This was the effect of a decision in circuit court today by which a motion to quash the indictment was overruled and twenty four of the twenty-five counts in the document were sustained.

A Cruel Injustice to MacNab. One morning at breakfast, when Dominie Thompson, the tutor, was present, Sir Walter Scott was going on with great glee to relate a story of the Laird of MacNab. "who, poor fellow," premised he, "is dead and gone."

"Why, Mr. Scott," exclaimed his good lady, "MacNab's not dead, is he?" "Faith, my dear," replied Scott, with humorous gravity, "if he is not dead they have done him great injustice, for they have buried him."

The joke passed harmless and unnoticed by Mrs. Scott, but hit the poor dominie just as he had raised a cup of tea to his lips, causing a burst of laughter which sent half the contents about the table.—Dyer in "Great Men at Play."

Slaves In Old Rome.

In Rome, in the golden age, a laborer cost only $100, and sometimes, after a great victory and an influx of captives into the capital, it was possible to buy strong, capable slaves for 50 apiece. Skilled slaves, men with trades, brought higher prices. Cicero paid $1,000 for a scribe. Catiline had a cook that cost him $2,500. A gardener was worth $900, a blacksmith $750, an actor $5,000, a physician $10,000.

PERMANENCE AND BRIGHT'S DISEASE

We have been asked as to the permanence of the results in Bright's Disease under Fulton's Renal Compound. Many cases report permanence.

For instance in the case of R. M. Wood, Editor of the Wine and Spirit Review of San Francisco, Cal.: It was twelve years ago that "the most noted analyst in San Francisco" established the genuineness of the case. The editor's physician told him that medicine would not avail and to go to Santa Barbara. He was put on Fulton Renal Compound and not only made a recovery but the permanence of the results obtained may be judged from the fact that he is at this writing (February, 1914) of normal weight and promoting his publication with his usual energy.

The ability of Fulton's Renal Compound to oppose Renal degeneration and reduce albumen in many cases of Bright's Disease is not a matter of opinion but a FACT IN PHYSICS, and we will mail formula for albumen test that will show the percentage from week to week. As the albumen declines improvement commonly follows, recoveries have been reported in thousands of cases. Formula and literature mailed on request. John J. Fulton Co., San Francisco. E. B. Most Fearsome Thing Is a Fly MICROSCOPIC examination has shown that millions of bacteria may sometimes be found on the body of a single fly. Often these are of more or less innocuous species of bacteria, but typhoid, tuberculosis, bacillary plague (this term is, as Professor Nuttall has shown, often fatal to the fly itself), diphtheria, cholera and dysentery make it anything but a desirable house pet.

IT RUINS HAIR TO WASH IT WITH SOAP

Soap should be used very sparingly, if at all, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulified coconut oil (which is pure and greaseless), is cheaper and better than soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulified coconut oil at any pharmacy, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

SMYTHE GETS $1300 VERDICT IN BIG SUIT

Mr. Smythe claimed injuries in the sum of $21,000 for being struck by the defendant's auto at the intersection of Sixth and Wilson streets, nearly three years ago.

WILLARD

WILL BE GIVEN MONSTER RECEPTION IN NEW YORK SATURDAY NIGHT

But the Films of the Fight Will be Barred Pending a Ruling of Judicial Authorities.

(Associated Press Telegram) New York, April 9.—A public welcome and demonstration in honor of Jess Willard has been arranged for the arrival of the new world's champion heavyweight here tomorrow night. A reception committee of men prominent in the sporting world will meet him at the railroad station and an escort of paraders headed by a band and including a detachment of Boy Scouts and members of the Kansas Society and other organizations will lead the champion's progress up Seventh avenue and Broadway to the St. Nicholas club. There Willard is to box four rounds with Jim Savage, his sparring partner.

Next week Willard will begin a two weeks' engagement at a local vaudeville theatre.

According to an announcement today, Willard will take a theatrical tour of the country which will prevent him from coming again for nine months or a year. In the meantime, it was thought, the real contenders for his title would be reduced to one or two.

United States District Attorney Marshall said today that if the films of the Willard-Johnson fight are brought to New York from Havana they will be detained until a judicial ruling has been given on the question of admitting the films of the Ritchie-Welch contest, which were brought here from London recently. The collector of the port, Dudley F. Malone said he would exclude the films from entry.

MERCHANTS'

(Continued from Page 1.) sancency to reduce his thoughts to writing and have them expressed by Mr. W. H. Macey. Mr. Macey prefaced Mr. Besancency's splendid paper with some pertinent and forceful remarks showing his sympathy with the movement and his interest in the success of the association.

Fred C. Evans, former president of the Board of Trade, was quite at home in discussing "why we should encourage trading at home," and he gave numerous reasons why buying at home benefited the buyer, the seller and the entire community.

James W. Rutledge, county treasurer and clothing merchant, spoke in favor of establishing a rest room and other accommodations for the benefit of the farmers who visit Newark and called attention to the fact that the agricultural society has petitioned the county commissioners for a farmer's rest room. Mr. Rutledge called attention also to the fact that more than one-half of the population of this county lives outside of Newark and that only 2-3 of the tax is paid by Newark. It is to Newark's interest to make the city attractive to the farming community and to extend the glad hand to every visitor to Newark.

At the conclusion of Mr. Rutledge's address, Mr. Lindorf introduced the chairman from Steubenville, Mr. Murphy who was asked to "gather up the crumbs."

Mr. Murphy first spoke of the beauty of Newark, then of its opportunity and in conclusion referred to conditions in his home city and to what had been accomplished by the Steubenville Chamber of Commerce by co-operation, by standing together and pulling for results.

Mr. Murphy spoke of the pleasure in visiting the famous ancient earthworks west of town, then of his visit to the Weiant greenhouses—the last word in scientific gardening. Mr. Murphy's talk was interspersed with enough wit to make it sparkle and the suggestions he offered and the experiences he related were appreciated and enjoyed by every one present.

The formal program was concluded with Mr. Murphy's inspiring address but the toastmaster called upon Prof. Wilson Hawkins, William H. Smith, F. S. Neighbor, John J. Carroll, C. H. Spencer and E. M. Baugher to speak.

Mr. Smith read a letter from President Sandles of the Ohio Agricultural Commission, saying that the state would be glad to co-operate with the local Board of Trade in its effort through the agricultural committee to bring the city and county into greater harmony. Mr. Sandles asked to be advised of the date of a proposed meeting, when matters of interest to the farmers and city folk are to be taken up. The merchants association endorsed this effort of the Board of Trade.

Prof. Hawkins gave an interesting talk on the value of the organization to the community and John J. Carroll related some experiences and incidents and gave some good suggestions for the future welfare of the association.

Mr. Neighbor spoke of the value of a credit system and the usefulness of the Merchants' organization, the Merchants' association.

Mr. Baugher who is chairman of the executive committee of the Board of Trade spoke of the relationship that should exist between the two organizations, of the need of both and particularly of the work that has been undertaken by the Board of Trade. Mr. Baugher solicited the support of every member of the Merchants' association.

Last year Newark's annual clean-up campaign was conducted under the auspices of the Merchants' association. This year the Board of Trade is to undertake the work with the co-operation of the city, the Associated Charities and the Federation of Women's clubs. The matter was presented at last night's meeting and a resolution endorsing the proposed clean-up campaign and pledging the members of the association to support of the project was unanimously adopted.

The association closed its first year with a membership of 65. The good work that has been accomplished makes it certain that additional members will join and the outlook for the association is exceedingly bright. The trustees and officers are to be congratulated for what has been accomplished.

These who were present last night: Chas. U. Stevens, Ed. McDonald, J. W. Rutledge, A. R. Lindorf, T. A. Murphy, P. McDonald, T. M. Edmiston, C. H. Spencer, W. C. Wells, A. A. Stephan, J. J. Carroll, J. S. Elliott, J. V. Haas, Geo. Hermann, F. D. Hall, H. F. Brennan, I. A. Dunn, A. H. Weisman, L. N. Bradley, H. C. Gerlach, D. R. Manning, A. B. Schaweker, W. C. Metz, E. M. Fletcher.

The Tree Man

By CLARISSA MACKIE

A Story For Arbor Day.

[Copyright, 1915, by American Press Association.]

THERE wasn't much left of the old Hobbs farm—merely a bit of rolling land crowned by a derelict wing of the farmhouse and one solitary spruce tree standing guard over Selina Hobbs and the remnant of her home.

But that lone tree was majestic in its solitude. Tall and evergreen and shapely, it rose to an immense height, its lateral branches sweeping in widening circumference until they touched the ground.

Selina Hobbs loved the spruce tree as passionately as she loved the few bits of old china that she had saved from the ruthless hands of the collectors of antiques.

Of all these things Selina loved the spruce tree most—it was animate. It had actually witnessed death and disaster and fire as each affliction descended upon the Hobbs family. Selina was so poor that she seldom spent money even for the simple village pleasures. On such occasions people laughed, not unkindly, and said that "Selina Hobbs was to home looking at her spruce tree."

It was spring, and the tree was bright with the flash of gay feathers as robin and bluebird and oriole darted to and fro. Selina was standing on the doorstep when the Tree Man came.

He was not very young nor yet very old, but he was very smiling and pleasant.

"I am from the Pettison nurseries," he explained. "We've got an order for some large spruces for the Goldman estate on the point. I thought you'd like to see that one." He cast an appraising eye at Selina's tree.

"Sell my tree?" gasped Selina, leaning against the door jamb. "Why, I couldn't! It's like a—person!"

The pleasant eyes scanned Selina narrowly. They saw a little wisp of a woman, with faded light hair pinned around her shapely head; pale, delicately molded features lighted by deep blue eyes. The blue cotton dress was vastly becoming to Selina, had she known it, but she no longer studied prettiness of attire.

"It's too bad you feel that way about it. I could offer you two hundred and fifty for it," said the Tree Man.

Selina stared.

"It's the very handsomest one I ever saw, and I've handled some trees in my day. You see," he continued, "it's so situated that we could take it up and transplant it easily, and it would make a grand windbreak for—"

"I won't sell—not for a million!" interrupted Selina jealously, although her common sense told her that the price of the tree would buy her meager food for three years.

"I won't sell," she repeated finally.

The Tree Man reluctantly turned away.

"I'm sorry, ma'am," he said. "Of course a tree's only a tree, after all, and dollars are dollars. Almost any thunderstorm might bring a stroke of lightning that would split it up."

"As if I hadn't thought of that," wailed Selina. "I never used to mind thunderstorms, but now a flash of lightning sets me all of a-tremble. I could spare the house sooner."

"Well, I guess I'll be going along," murmured the Tree Man until he was out of sight. She saw him turn several times and look back at the tree. At least Selina thought he was looking at the spruce; but, in fact, he was looking at Selina's slim figure outlined against the dark background of the doorway. He was a lonely man, and the picture haunted him. All his life he had dreamed of a woman waiting his coming just like that.

Before dawn the next day there came a violent thunderstorm. The lightning played with evil persistency around the old Hobbs place.

"O Lord, spare the tree!" prayed Selina, with her face pressed against the dripping windowpane.

Then came the blasting stroke. The spruce tree was spared, but the remnant of the old homestead received the deadly bolt.

By superhuman exertion Selina dragged her most precious belongings to the shelter of the spruce tree by the gate.

Down there under the dry protection of its branches Selina Hobbs swayed gently in the old Boston rocker that had been her father's favorite seat. Gathered around her were pieces of treasured furniture, clothing, old china and pictures. Nothing had been consumed that she spent a moment in regretting.

It was gray daylight when the Tree Man came hurrying through the gate and saw Selina Hobbs sitting under

SUFFERED 15 YEARS, CURED IN 21 DAYS

ASTOUNDING CURES MADE BY THIS REMARKABLE NEW DISCOVERY.

Gentlemen: For over fifteen years I was afflicted with eczema, covering my arms, legs and face. I suffered so much distress that I could not sleep. My face was red and swollen, and covered with dreadful scales. I was unable to attend to business for weeks at a time.

I had about given up all hope when I tried your remedy, Amolox. The first application gave me relief so I could sleep. After applying it for several days I was able to attend to business. After thirty days' treatment my eczema entirely disappeared.

James R. Rigby, Youngstown, Ohio.

Amolox is the prescription of a physician who used it with wonderful success in his private practice. Now, for the first time, offered for sale by the leading druggists.

Amolox Ointment will quickly banish pimples on the face, blackheads, and all minor skin troubles. Chronic cases of Psoriasis, Salt Rheum, Tetter, that have suffered for years, require both the Ointment and Solution to effect a cure. Trial size, 50c. Guaranteed and recommended by T. J. Evans.

the spruce tree just as though she lived there.

"Thank God," he said devoutly, "that you are safe! I couldn't keep you out of my mind this morning after I heard that bolt, so I just got up and dressed and harnessed my horse, and I've come right over to see!"

He hesitated and reddened, for his deep interest in Selina was as unaccountable as it was unexpected by the lonely little woman.

"You're very kind," said Selina, placing a chair for him, and then she blushed too.

They talked about the fire and Selina's future plans. She would go and stay with a cousin for awhile until the insurance was paid, when she would have a tiny cottage built.

"I believe I'll try raising some spruce trees," said Selina timidly at last.

"I was thinking of that," he said gravely, "but don't decide until you see me again."

Selina promised.

Of course it required a great many interviews to decide such a momentous question as confronted Selina, and then, after all, something happened that changed all Selina's plans and incidentally the plans of the Tree Man.

The something was Selina's wedding under the spruce tree. Now the hillside is clothed with dark seedling spruce, but always the guardian spruce stands near the cottage, where it waves its arms gayly to Selina while she stands in the doorway and waits for the coming of her Tree Man.

Queerest Town in England.

The most curious town in England is Northwich. There is not a straight street nor, in fact, a straight house in the place. Every part of it has the appearance of an earthquake. Northwich is the center of the salt industry in Cheshire, England. On nearly all sides of the town are big salt works, with their engines pumping hundreds of thousands of gallons of brine every week. At a depth of some 200 or 300 feet are immense subterranean lakes of brine, and as the contents of these are pumped and pumped away the upper crust of earth is correspondingly weakened, and the result is an occasional subsidence. These subsidences have a "pulling" effect on the nearest buildings, and they are drawn all ways and give the town an extremely dissipated appearance.

The Legion of Honor.

In 1902 Bonaparte proposed the formation of a legion of honor which was to include in its ranks men of distinction from every walk in life, not only soldiers, but savants, jurists and authors.

"It is aristocratic in its tendency," said Berlier, a distinguished lawyer, "leading France back to the ancient regime when crosses, badges and ribbons were the toys of monarchy."

"Well," replied Napoleon, "men are led by toys. The French are not all changed by ten years of revolution; they are what the Gauls were—ferocious and fickle. They have one feeling—honor. We must nourish that feeling; they must have distinction."

The oath taken by a new member of the Legion of Honor was to devote himself "to the service of the republic, to the maintenance of the integrity of its territory, the defense of its government, laws and of the property which they have consecrated; to fight against every attempt to re-establish the feudal regime or to reproduce the titles and qualities thereto belonging."

"Napoleon and the End of the French Revolution," by Charles F. Warwick.

How a Tree Should Be Planted

PERSONS planting trees should make it a point, first of all, to use the same care and be just as particular as surgeons in performing operations of a serious nature, since care is as important in one case as in the other.

When planting a tree make sure to dig the hole large enough to permit the roots to spread as much as possible. In replacing the dirt over the roots put the top soil in first. This soil is of a richer nature than the subsoil and should by all means come in contact with the roots.

Another important point is to make sure that the tree is planted at the exact depth at which it grew. This you can see by the soil mark about the trunk. The ground should be kept thoroughly and firmly packed around the roots so that the tree cannot work loose. When the tree is planted in the fall the ground about it should be tamped again in the spring.

Trees must be thoroughly watered when they are planted and regularly afterward if the weather is dry. Once or twice a week is often enough, but be sure that plenty of water is used. Unless the ground is soaked to a sufficient depth water does more harm than good. In planting evergreens, if the ground is dry, only enough dirt should be put in the hole to cover the roots. The ground should then be soaked and allowed to settle before the rest of the soil is replaced.

The most important factor in successful planting is cultivation of the ground about the tree. Work the soil thoroughly with a hoe so that the air and moisture can reach the roots. If the ground is allowed to become hard the roots will smother. If the tree is planted in a lawn or meadow a space as large as the spread of the roots should be kept free of grass and cultivated until the tree is thoroughly established. Following is a set of rules in the planting of a deciduous tree as set down by an expert:

No. 1.—Mark out the hole in the form of a circle making the diameter equal to the spread of the roots of the tree. Place the soil on one side.

No. 2.—Remove the black soil immediately under the soil and place next to the soil. This black soil is, of course, the best.

No. 3.—Remove the under or yellow soil to a depth of about two and a half feet. Be sure to keep the three soils, black, red and yellow, in separate piles.

No. 4.—The width of the hole averages about five feet, top and bottom. This is for free tree three inches in diameter and eighteen feet in height.

No. 5.—Use decayed manure or leaf mold to put in the hole for a depth of two inches.

No. 6.—Turn the soil upside down over the manure or leaf mold and tamp thoroughly.

No. 7.—Put back some of the black soil, pulverizing it by hand, to a total depth of twelve inches, leaving the hole still eighteen inches deep.

No. 8.—Take the tree and spread out the roots so that every one is perfectly straight. If necessary trim some of the long roots, making sure that every important root has a clean cut and not a jagged break at the end. The soil mark on the trunk must be level with the ground. If necessary take out a little soil or put back a little more black dirt into the hole.

No. 9.—Spread the black soil by hand between the roots. After covering them shovel the rest of the black soil on and tamp thoroughly.

No. 10.—Mix the yellow soil with one part of decayed manure or leaf mold to two parts of yellow soil and spread on the top. This mixture tends to keep the top soil open and prevents it from packing too hard.

No. 11.—After the tree is planted it should be trimmed back, but great care should be taken in doing this, as many good specimens are ruined by improper trimming.

No. 12.—After the tree is planted and trimmed the soil about it must be kept open and should be constantly cultivated for the first year. For the first month the tree should be watered once a week to a depth of twelve inches to induce root action.

Fifty Years Ago.

Today marks the fiftieth anniversary of General Lee's surrender at Appomattox—a half century since the close of the civil war.

This is one of the great historic events of American life yet few northern men care to observe the occasion with a public celebration. The people of the North long ago learned to love those who live south of the Mason and Dixon line and there is no desire to "rub in" memories of the war. The people of the north have only a feeling of friendship and sympathy.

To the older people the memories of that portentous day of 50 years ago will never grow dim. The gulf between the two sections seemed as high as heaven and as deep as hell, ghastly with skeletons, ruined homes and fortunes.

Yet time heals all wounds. There are scars visible, but flowers have grown over the graves and the ruins. While sympathy and friendship exist perfect harmony can never be expected between widely separated sections of any large country. The fact that differences exist does not prove that the relations are not cordial. The East and the West have their sharp conflicts, almost as much as South and North.

A nation that spreads over so vast an expanse as the United States has many divergent interests to reconcile. It can never be as harmonious as a small and compact country. It gains all the power and freedom of bigness, but it pays for it with the diversities of ideas and points of view. These diversities are often sharp, yet they need never be serious or threatening.

If it was only possible for the great mass of the people to travel freely all over the country, friction between sections would be reduced to a small minimum. Most of the differences referred to result from a lack of personal understanding of the people and problems of other sections. The heroism of the two armies that finally joined hands at Appomattox is the joint heritage of all the people. Their endurance, and their daring are an expression of the idealism and determination of American character. Any man who had an ancestor on that field has a right to rejoice in the glory of his blood, regardless upon which side he fought.

Flowers for Churches.

Owing to an unusual amount of destitution, many churches are reported to have reduced their expense for Easter flowers this year, giving the money to the poor.

Some people will say that all of the money spent in decorating churches is wasted, and should go to more practical human needs. It is often remarked that costly architecture and elaborate painting and statuary seem inappropriate in the world of suffering and want.

Yet Jesus rebuked those who said that the alabaster box of precious ointment should have been given to the poor, instead of being used for might be saved for church charities, scenes is a bright and happy spot in the lives of many people. It is a Election Frauds.

If Judge Anderson should lock up that entire Terre Haute outfit politics thereabouts for a time will be reduced to the plane of a sewing society. By the way, are not Vice President Marshall, Senator Kern and the late Albert J. Beveridge going to review this little affair in the popular magazines?—Pittsburg Gazette Times.

Baby or the Dollar.

Of course, as before, when lending a helping hand to indigent mothers of fatherless babies, so as to give them a chance to grow up, and raising taxes a fraction of a mill on the dollar, to foot the bills, some of our noble statesmen will defend the dollar against the baby to the last ditch. —St. Louis Post Dispatch.

Easter Guessing.

Wall street's judgment, as to the duration of the war is supported by no less a personage than James J. Hill. The trouble will end in October 1915, "unless both sides are prepared to fight through the spring and summer of 1916." By the same token, it will be in order presently to say that the war will end in 1916 unless both sides are prepared to fight through the spring and summer of 1917. It is easier to guess prices than it is to forecast the end of war.—New York World.

Gifford Pinchot.

For a public-spirited gentleman anxious to serve his fellow-man in a perfectly altruistic and unselfish manner Gifford Pinchot certainly has his troubles. President Taft could not get along with him as Chief Forester, and Pennsylvania declined to elect him as senator last year. And now Germany says he must quit Belgium just because his sister happened to marry an Englishman. Some day we hope Mr. Pinchot will find just the job best suited for his abilities. He is capable of rendering splendid services, and a place ought to be found for him somewhere.—Philadelphia Record.

WHEN SHIPS COME IN.

When our ships come in from the sea of dreams, where the scented zephyrs blew, all our cherished plans and our golden schemes will then in an hour come true. No more to toil for a pauper's pay, no longer to hew and spin, we shall all be glad on that joyful day, the day when our ships come in. There are many things I would like to do, if I only had the price; I'd give the orphan a needed shoe, the widow a cake of ice; I'd help the pastor repair the church, but I'm always short of tin; to raise a dime takes a lengthy search, and will till my ship comes in. I'd help the poor in a lavish way, if I were a millionaire; I'd feed them oysters three times a day, and banish their grief and care. I'd like to battle with stark disease in slums that are dark with sin, but I can't get busy with things like these till my good ship comes in. I do no good as I wander along for I'm always dreaming dreams; I haven't the money to combat wrong or baffle the wicked's schemes. I'd do fine things on a future day—to that theory my faith I pin, when over the sea and over the bay, my beautiful ship comes in.

Which Falls Quickest?
If one marble be slipped horizontally from the top of a table and another be dropped from the same height at the same instant, which reaches the floor first?

This question is sent to the Scientific American by a correspondent, and the editor of that magazine answers it as follows:
Sir Isaac Newton stated three laws of motion which from his time to the present have been universally accepted as true. The second law is, "A given force produces the same effect whether it acts upon a body at rest or in motion, whether it acts alone or together with other forces." You will see that the second part of this law covers the case of a ball dropped from a table and another ball shot horizontally from the same level at the same instant. The first ball falls by the force of gravity alone. The second ball has, as you say, two forces acting upon it. The ball obeys both forces at the same time. It falls as if gravity acted alone. It goes by the blow as if the blow acted alone. Both balls reach the floor at the same instant.

The Milk in the Coconut.
South Africa natives along the Orange river have a way of producing "milk," which, primitive as it is, vies in ingenuity with the method of those who believe in the synthetic production of what the journalist, hardup for a synonym, has been known to call "the lactical fluid." After cutting the top from a coconut, the native places the nut over hot ashes, so that the warmth may cause the fat and "butter" contained in the husk to be absorbed by the milk. This changes the milk's quality and gives it a palatable taste. In order to deal with several nuts at a time the natives construct rough "holders" from old iron hoops. The ashes are placed under the grating and the nuts set in it. Obviously there must be no actual fire beneath the nuts or they would be burned away and the milk be lost.—Argonaut.

The Matterhorn.

Many mountains which long enjoyed a reputation of being absolutely unclimbable are now considered as almost ordinary excursions. The Matterhorn for many years repulsed men who were among the foremost mountaineers of the day. Professor Tyndall and Edward Whymper were followed on more than a dozen occasions. But on July 15, 1895, with Lord Francis Douglas, Hudson and Hadow, Mr. Whymper eventually reached the summit, and it was in descending that the fatal slip occurred which cost the lives of his three English companions as well as of Michel Croz, one of the most competent of Swiss guides. Nowadays the peak is constantly ascended (with the help of guides) by tourists who have no pretensions to be mountaineers at all.—London Advertiser.

MOTHERS' DAY is a national institution, Fathers' day has gained much ground since it was suggested a year or two ago, and now the idea of setting aside a day in the year for the children is meeting with favor. It is peculiarly fitting, say the advocates of Children's day, to give the youngsters of America a day of their own since America is, above all other nations, the land of the children. Here childhood finds its greatest opportunity for growth and expansion. Nowhere else on earth do parents sacrifice themselves so much for their children. In fact, it has been suggested time and again by foreign observers that the children rule America; that the older folks place themselves too far in the background of our national life and the children too far in the foreground.

So far there has been little concerted action to set aside a day when childhood shall be glorified and given the opportunity to display its spirit of youth, which is so beautiful. There are, of course, places here and there throughout the Union where children assemble on a given day and have a good time. In other places the assemblage of the youngsters has a specified purpose, such as in the great gathering in Brooklyn for the annual Sunday school parade. Most of the larger cities have field days for the school children, when the youngsters of both sexes gather on the city's green places and show their skill in folk dances, races and other sports.

In many cities and towns the children have a recognized place in the celebrations of national holidays, such as Memorial day and Independence day. And, of course, Christmas, with its recently instituted municipal observances and municipal trees, is preeminently a day of the children. Its religious side appeals to all devout Christians, but in its secular observances all children have their particular and important part.

May day is children's day, of course, since we adults have lost our ancient customs of gathering on the village green and dancing around the maypole. Large cities have their "May walks" of children, with queens of the May and kings and princesses and princes and courtiers and little ones dressed in all sorts of masquerade. In June come the "June walks," continuations of the May parties, which take place throughout all the "merrie month of May." Perhaps May day is the best day of all the year for a national children's day, with formal and ceremonious observances, since it is an informal children's day anyway.

Leading educators, librarians and others interested in the development and training of children have welcomed the idea of setting aside one day in the year for the glorification of childhood. "We owe the little ones some recognition of the fact that a large share of the joy of life is diffused by them," said one of these. "In fact, I am not sure that parents do not owe more to their children than the children do to their parents. Let us get them all together on one day and rejoice with them in the happiness and freedom from care which only childhood knows. Perhaps it will bring back to us 'children of a larger growth' some of the joy of living which we lost when we left behind our short skirts and knickerbockers."

Protect the Birds!

"Birds," by John Ruskin

THE bird is little more than a drift of the air brought into form by plumes. The air is in all its quills; it breathes through its whole frame and flesh and glows with air in its flying, like a blown flame. It rests upon the air, subdues it, surpasses it, outraces it. It is the air, conscious of itself, conquering itself, ruling itself.

Also into the throat of the bird is given the voice of the air. All that in the wind itself is weak, useless in sweetness, is knitted together in its song. As we may imagine the wild form of the cloud closed into the perfect form of the bird's wings, so the wild voice of the cloud into its ordered and commanded voice, unwearied, rippling through the clear heaven in its gladness, interpreting all intense passion through the soft spring nights, bursting into acclamation and rapture of choir at daybreak or lisping and twittering among the boughs and hedges through heat of day, like little winds that only make the cowslip bells shake and ruffle the petals of the wild rose.

Also upon the plumes of the bird are put the colors of the air, on these the gold of the cloud that cannot be gathered by any covetousness, the rubies of the clouds, the vermilion of the cloud bar, and the flame of the cloud crest, and the snow of the cloud and its shadow, and the melted blue of the deep wells of the sky—all these, seized by the creating spirit and woven into films and threads of plume, with wave on wave following and fading along breast and throat and opened wings, infinite as the dividing of the foam and the sifting of the sea sand, even the white down of the cloud seeming to flutter up between the stronger plumes, seen, but too soft for touch.

Lincoln and the Birds.
One of the most interesting and pathetic incidents of which I have ever read or heard is connected with the memory of Abraham Lincoln.

In company once with some other candidates who were out on a political campaign he saw in the woods near the close of the day some baby birds that had been blown out of their nest. Asking to be allowed to get down from the carriage, which passed on ahead, Mr. Lincoln picked up the tiny creatures and restored them to their little home. On reaching the inn he was asked the cause of his delay and astonished his hearers by telling them of his humane act, declaring that had he not returned the birdies to their mother's care he could not have slept that night.

For Bird Lovers.
Did you have a feeding place for the birds last winter? If not, try it this winter. Have you any nesting places for them next spring near your house? How they will pay you for all this trouble in carol and song and in the killing of harmful insects!

The woman who paints her face and wears clothes that make her look like an advertisement shouldn't complain because she attracts attention.

Us roughnecks may be dumb. But we still insist that a man who wears two watch crystals with tortoise shell rims isn't any better than we are.

A good working dictionary has a vocabulary of about 80,000 terms. And some men can use the whole 80,000 and not say anything.

The man who's trying to support a wife and a few children on $10 a week knows that all the peons are not located in Mexico.

The man who imagines that his nickel's worth of religion pays up his fire insurance from Sunday to Sunday feels sorry for the rest of the world.

This would be a fine world if we were as eager to take advantage of our opportunities to keep quiet as we are to take advantage of our opportunities to talk.

Why is it that almost every man believes that almost everybody else is happier than he is?

If the kisses men give women were as passionate as the kisses women give other women there wouldn't be much trouble in the world.

One thing we like about a woman who does her own housework is that she hardly ever has time to lavish affection on a lap dog.

LONE AVIATOR IS VICTOR IN AN AIR DUEL

FRENCHMAN PURSUED GERMAN
AIRCRAFT POURING SHOT FROM A QUICK FIRM.

Which Finally Took Effect—Aero-plane Struck the Ground a Mass of Flame—Crew Dead.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Furnes, Belgium, via Paris, April 9.—A dramatic duel in the air in which a German aircraft was brought down by R. Garros, a famous French aviator inside the allied lines, was described last night by Major Raoul Poutus, son of the former Belgian painter of war, who witnessed the combat. The German at first succeeded in rising above Garros' machine, but the latter by a clever twist, evaded and then flew atop the German.

From this moment the German's position became critical," said Major Poutus, "for Garros overtook him rapidly. Presently the crackling of a quick firer showed the Frenchman judged himself sufficiently near to take the offensive. Could the German escape? It seemed difficult for Garros shot forward in great bounds, getting nearer and nearer, but the German observer used his cannons freely and it seemed a bullet might strike the Frenchman.

"Suddenly a long jet of white smoke gushed from the German machine. The aeroplane, a mass of flames, struck the ground with a sickening thud a score of yards from me and a column of black smoke mingled with sheets of fire poured from the fallen machine.

"I ran to the aeroplane which had fallen close to a ditch and soon put out the fire. The aviators, horribly burned, were dead when I reached them. The gasoline tank contained two bullet holes. Its six cylinder engine was very heavy and this explained its rapid fall. The fire had scattered instruments and military documents in their leather cases. This interesting booty was taken to general headquarters."

prove this fact.

FOR WEAK, SOUR GASSY STOMACHS

It's torture to sit down to a well filled dinner table and know that to eat what you want means misery afterwards. Eat ever so little of the forbidden foods and you have to take soda mints, pepsin pills or other artificial digestants to stop the bloating, heart burn, sourness, gas and stomach lump that always follows. But the more of them you take the more you must and soon the pills become a part of the regular diet. You think you can not eat without them, but you can.

There is an old time stomach prescription called Mi-o-na Stomach Tablets that acts directly on the stomach itself and not on the food. One of two Mi-o-na tablets after each meal not only prevents all stomach distress but stimulates healthy natural flow of digestive juices, strengthens the muscular walls and makes the stomach strong enough to do its own work and that's the only way to stop indigestion. T. J. Evans and other dealers sell Mi-o-na on a guarantee of quick relief or money back.
Get a package of Mi-o-na, keep it handy and watch your stomach ills get out for good.

RECORD CATCHES ARE OCCURRING AT BUCKEYE LAKE

The best fishing of years is being experienced at Buckeye Lake this season and many good catches of bass are recorded daily. Frank Douce and Joseph Stip landed a string of sixteen fine bass, their average weight being two and a half pounds. Harry Keene yesterday brought in six beauties which average three pounds and he stated that a half dozen other good catches had been made. It is said that they are catching Lake Eries by the boat load and that sun fishing was never better.
Hundreds of anglers are out daily and none of them come back empty-handed. Charles Henry was out for several hours yesterday and brought in twenty-five pounds of fine crop-ples and small-mouth bass which he distributed among his friends.
Charles De Witt and James Murphy spent Thursday afternoon at the Lake and succeeded in landing five of the finest bass ever caught at the Lake, the five weighing a little over twenty-two pounds.

IMPROVEMENTS BEING MADE AT BUCKEYE LAKE

There is great activity at Buckeye Lake Park at the present time caused by preparing for the opening of the season, which will occur some time in May.

The grounds are being cleaned and overhauled, new buildings are being erected and Manager Will D. Harris is fast getting things in shape for what he predicts will be the most prosperous season ever had at the lake.

The Del Fisher boat line started operations the first of the week and is now running both freight and passenger boats to all points. The boats have been overhauled and are in splendid condition. Capt. Fisher stated today that he is now prepared to accommodate all lovers of fishing with the necessary outfit, including boats, poles and lines and all kinds of bait. In all probability if the weather is propitious Sunday hundreds will seek recreation at the park, many of the cottages already being opened for the season.

THE HEADACHE OF NERVOUS EXHAUSTION

A feeling as of a tight band about the head is often felt in addition to the pain of a headache that is caused by nervous exhaustion. The ache is generally in the back of the head, rarely in the forehead, and is often accompanied by dizziness.

The way to stop this sort of headache is to stop the cause of it. Overwork, worry and failure of the blood to properly nourish the nerves are the most common causes. Rest and a tonic for the blood and nerves will cause the headache to disappear in most cases.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are an effective tonic for building up the blood and strengthening the nerves. They furnish just the elements that the blood needs to build up the nerves shattered by overwork, worry, overstudy or excess. You cannot always rest from school, office or household when circumstances require but you can always take a tonic that will maintain the strength of blood and nerves. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are just the tonic required.

Mention this paper and we will send you a booklet, "Diseases of the Nervous System" free. Address: Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

EXCITING CHASE OF STEAMER BY A SUBMERSIBLE

GERMAN CRAFT FIRED SEVEN EXPLOSIVE SHELLS, FIVE HITTING THE LINER

And Doing Considerable Damage—
No One Hurt in Chase of Fifty-seven Miles.

Associated Press Telegrams
Liverpool, April 9.—The captain of the Blue Funnel Line steamer Theseus, which left Liverpool, Mar. 27, for Java, has sent back a report of an exciting chase by a German submarine. The Theseus managed to make her escape, but she was subjected to and damaged by shell fire from the submersible.

March 29 at 7 o'clock in the morning, the Theseus sighted the submarine at a point 40 miles southwest of Bishop Rock lighthouse. The submarine signaled her to stop and abandon ship, but this order was ignored, and the Theseus put on full steam and started zig-zagging on her course. The submarine opened fire and continued throwing shells at the Theseus at intervals. The chase continued until 10:30 when the submarine abandoned the pursuit and appeared to turn her attention to a small steamer flying the Norwegian flag.

Of the seven explosive shells fired by the three inch gun on the submarine, five struck the Theseus and did considerable damage. The mainmast was badly cut, and the quarters of the firemen in the poop were wrecked. The distance covered during the chase was about 57 miles. The Theseus maintained a speed of about 17 knots. From time to time she fired explosive distress signals in the hope of attracting the attention of a British warship. The captain of the steamer is of the opinion that had it not been for the rough sea the submarine would have overhauled the Theseus. No member of the crew of the Theseus was injured. All the damage to the vessel was above the water line and only temporary repairs were required.

Prevent Diphtheria.

A sore throat is a good landing place for Diphtheria germs. Protect your children by never neglecting a Sore Throat. You can easily depend upon TONSILINE. Give Tonsiline upon the first appearance of Sore Throat—don't give Diphtheria a chance in that throat in its weakened condition. When TONSILINE is swallowed it comes directly in contact with the diseased surface and induces a healthy condition of the membrane—then the system can better defend the throat if attacked by Diphtheria germs. Keep TONSILINE in the house where you can get it quick when needed. 25c., 50c. and $1.00.

The Best in Florida Grapefruit

Florida is the natural home of citrus fruits, and in the long growing season of the State grapefruit has time in which to store up nature's sweetness. The unequalled quality of Florida grapefruit, in juiciness, richness of flavor and texture, is due to the favorable soil and climatic conditions under which they are grown.

Sometimes a Florida grapefruit is rough and uninviting in looks—but cut it open and you will realize the truth of the old adage that beauty is only skin deep. If it has been allowed to ripen on the tree, you will find every Florida grapefruit filled with delicious, invigorating juice—alike food and drink and a fine tonic.

The Florida Citrus Exchange is a non-profit making, co-operative association of growers, formed for the mutual protection of consumers and producers. Its members leave their fruit on the trees until it has become sweet and full of juice.

This Mark Stands for Tree-Ripened Grapefruit

The trademark of the Florida Citrus Exchange protects you when you buy grapefruit and oranges.

Conspicuous In Most Up-to-date Groceries

Almost every modern grocery or fruit store carries Florida Citrus Exchange fruit in season. If your dealer does not have it, insist, and he will get this fruit for you.

Booklet giving scores of ways of serving and using oranges and grapefruit mailed for four cents in stamps. Address, Florida Citrus Exchange, 625 Citizens Bank Building, Tampa, Florida.

BUSINESS

WILL CONTINUE TO IMPROVE JUDGING FROM OPTIMISTIC REPORTS

Made to Treasury Officials by Eighty National Bank Examiners Just Received.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Washington, April 9.—Treasury officials were predicting today continued improvement in business conditions throughout the country. Their optimism was based on reports from eighty national bank examiners.

Revival of business activity in virtually every line was found. There was pronounced hopefulness, the report said, in agricultural, commercial and manufacturing circles.

Business in the south, with cotton active at advancing prices, is showing a pronounced improvement. In the western and Pacific states, a general improvement was noted. The lumber industry was said to be recovering and mining was resumed on a larger scale. Good crops were predicted.

Some depression still is felt in New England, the middle Atlantic states and portions of the central west, it was said. Although crop conditions were declared satisfactory, manufacturing, except for foreign trade, was said to be lagging. Maine, however, was said to be the only state in which there was any real depression.

There was an increased demand, it was said, for railroad cars and steel rails and for structural iron.

SPECIFIC CASES OF HELP GIVEN BY Y. M. C. A.

There is no such conclusive proof of accomplishment as to show in specific instances, work done along any line. The local Y. M. C. A. is doing much good in the community as the following cases, taken from a list of 39 cases that were recorded, will show. Many that did not receive so much attention were not recorded. The Y. M. C. A. helps men in all walks of life. Its value to a community cannot be measured in dollars and cents. Yet it takes money to do the work. Last year the public contributed $3,263.70. It should be more.

The annual campaign for current expenses starts next week. Will you help?

Here are a few cases:
Pete Altwecker, 23 years of age, came to building May 25, 1914. Wanted bath and night's lodging. Was without work. Work was secured. He remained in city about two months, accumulating enough money to take him to the East. He had temporary quarters in the building.
John Boncher, 42 years of age; Polish family of wife and four children in Rodowicz, Poland. In May, 1914, through the efforts of the Association he was sent to this city by the employment department of the Pittsburgh Association. He was met at the train by one of the local secretaries, whose only means of identification was an envelope in John's hand showing when he left Pittsburgh and his destination. John is still happy at his work at the Licking Creamery where he cares for the horses. He has worried much about his family since September. The Y. M. C. A. and the Licking Creamery company communicated with the International Committee and State Department and have been able to pacify his feelings. He now has a substantial savings account in one of the banks. Before the war he sent money to his family.

Clifford B. boy, 16 years old, left home near Newark in fall of 1911. Went to Pittsburgh where he was arrested and held in jail. Through the aid of Social Workers his release was secured and he was sent back to Newark, where a business man in the street near the station directed him to the Y. M. C. A. A phone message was sent to the parents at 9 o'clock at night. The boy was kept over night and put on the train for home the next morning, with fare advanced. He now visits the Y when in town.

George J., 25 years old, came to building December 7th during the cold weather, was given temporary sleeping quarters down stairs. Was given work sufficient to earn some clothes and take him on his way to the mining district near Pittsburgh. Received Christmas card saying he was at work.

John H., 21 years, going from Leavenworth, Kas. to Waynesboro, Pa., Dec 11th, was kept over night and given food. Communication to family through the Y. M. C. A. there received due appreciation.

James Hawley, 50 years, came to building January 25th, poorly dressed and sick with cold. Was given warm dinner and medical attention and allowed to rest up in the basement.

— came to city as a traveling man; fell under the influence of drink and came to the association. Was put to bed where he could sober up. He got away and became intoxicated again, and was put in county jail. When he was released he came to the association again and was helped. He has communicated with his family and now has temporary work at his old trade. He found those who will help him.

TO PUT ON FLESH AND INCREASE WEIGHT

A Physician's Advice.

Most thin people eat from four to six pounds of good solid fat-making food every day and still do not increase in weight. On the other hand, many of the plump, chunky folks eat very lightly and keep gaining all the time. It's all bosh to say that this is the nature of the individual. It isn't Nature's way at all.

Thin folks stay thin because their powers of assimilation are defective. They absorb just enough of the food they eat to maintain life and a semblance of health and strength. Stuffing won't help them. A dozen meals a day won't make them gain a single "stay there" pound. All the fat-producing elements of their food must stay in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste. What such people need is something that will prepare these fatty food elements so that their blood can absorb them and deposit them all about the body—something, too, that will multiply their red blood corpuscles and increase their blood's carrying power.

For such a condition I always recommend eating a Sargol tablet with every meal. Sargol is not, as some believe, a patented drug, but is a scientific combination of six of the most effective and powerful flesh-building elements known to chemistry. It is absolutely harmless, yet wonderfully effective and a single tablet eaten with each meal often has the effect of increasing the weight of a thin man or woman from three to five pounds a week. Sargol is sold by Evans drug store and other good druggists everywhere on a positive guarantee of weight increase or money back.

An increase in parasitical diseases among poultry and game birds in England is attributed to the distribution of dust through the air by automobiles.

THE WAY OUT

Change of Food Brought Success and Happiness.

An ambitious but delicate girl, after failing to go through school on account of nervousness and hysteria, found in Grape-Nuts the only thing that seemed to build her up and turnish her the peace of health.

"From infancy," she says, "I have not been strong. Being ambitious to learn at any cost I finally got to the High School but soon had to abandon my studies on account of nervous prostration and hysteria. My food did not agree with me, and I grew thin and dependent. I could not enjoy the simplest social affair for I suffered constantly from nervousness in spite of all sorts of medicines."

"This wretched condition continued until I became interested in the letters of those who had cases like mine and who were being helped by eating Grape-Nuts."

"I had little faith, but procured a pkg. and after the first dish I experienced a peculiar feeling that I had never gained from any ordinary food. I slept and rested better that night and in a few days began to grow stronger."

"I had a new feeling of peace and restfulness. In a few weeks, to my great joy, the headaches and nervousness left me and life became bright and hopeful. I resumed my studies and later taught ten months with ease—using Grape-Nuts every day. I am now the mistress of a happy home, and the old weakness has never returned."

AUSTRIA

WILL BE THE GAINER BY MAKING PEACE INSTEAD OF FIGHTING RUSSIA

This Question Considered Closely Related With Possible Understanding With Italy.

ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM
Rome, April 8.—Via Paris, April 9.—The questions whether an understanding between Italy and Austria still is possible and whether a separate Austro-Russian peace treaty is probable, are discussed from different points of view by the press of the capital. The papers agree that the two questions are closely related since, if Russia, with the permission of her allies, obtains what she desires and comes to terms with Vienna, it is impossible to imagine that Austria would be willing to make territorial concessions to Italy.

It is regarded as probable by the newspapers that reports of peace negotiations will be denied in all official quarters until some tangible agreement is reached. The position of Austria, it is contended, is becoming daily more grave because of the Russian invasion and the threat of Italian intervention.

The Idea Nazionale says Austria has but little chance of regaining what she has lost and that the probabilities are she will lose more if she continues to fight while by making peace with Russia, she would avoid a further Muscovite invasion and might prevent a Serbian advance as well as the intervention of Italy and Rumania. The paper says Austria may even hope to obtain moral and material revenge by a vigorous war against Italy alone.

EXPLOSIONS WRECK SERBIAN CLUB IN LOS ANGELES, CAL.

ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM
Los Angeles, April 9.—Two explosions of dynamite last night completely wrecked the Serbian club at 709 North Broadway and damaged adjoining buildings. Immediately afterwards fire started in the wreckage, but was extinguished before gaining headway.

The club has been used as headquarters for Serbian nationalists in Los Angeles and had been the scene of several radical clashes since the European war began. No one was injured.

H. M. FLAGLER'S WORK FOR CUBA VALUED HIGHLY

Transportation System Between Havana and Key West Monument to American—Ferry
Final Link.

The municipality of Havana has always considered adequate transportation facilities a cardinal requirement, and its travel system has been development from year to year, says a Havana special to the Christian Science Monitor. The coming of the new Havana-Key West ferry puts the finishing touch to a water route that in a measure is a continuation to Cuban travel, since carrying the trains from the United States to this island makes it an all-rail way right into the heart of the city.

After the Florida East Coast railway had extended itself out from the tip of Florida into the ocean in the direction of Cuba for 114 miles there remained a gap of 93 miles to be bridged. The bridging of this gap was accomplished by the ocean going car-ferry steamers. The first of these steamers, the Henry M. Flagler, is now in service between Key West, the ocean terminus of the railway and Havana. This steamer is 360 feet long and has a breadth of 57 feet it has four standard-gauge tracks and a capacity of 30 refrigerator or passenger cars. The speed of the Henry M. Flagler is computed at 13 knots an hour. This gives a running time between Havana and Key West of a little more than six hours.

Cubans interested in having quick and comfortable service between their island and the United States are fond of relating how the recent unique system of transportation sprang into existence. They believe that never in the history of railroad building anywhere in the world has a single man so boldly pitted his judgment against the judgment of every expert—engineering, financial, economic—as did Henry M. Flagler when he undertook to extend the Florida East Coast railway from Miami to Key West. "Flagler's Folly," this undertaking was called by many and Flagler himself, who was not a technical railway man, was characterized as bent chiefly on spending the millions that he had made in the oil business on a railway undertaking that he was not supposed to know anything about.

But once Mr. Flagler had made up his mind that the line should be built from the mainland down the chain of keys running out into the ocean—over a hundred miles—he brooked no interference or delay. It was true that these keys were many miles apart and that the broad ocean lay between. After searching for a good while he finally secured engineers willing to utilize the underlying ridge for his purpose of building the extension.

On Jan. 22, 1911, the Florida East Coast railway was completed to Key West. It is enough to know now that high officials of Cuba took part in the opening exercises to see how much interested this island was in the new enterprise. Flagler's vision is a reality, and no man's memory is honored more in Havana than that of the American who succeeded in bridging the ocean with the final link of the steamship ferry which makes it possible to reach Havana from Washington in two days. From Havana, railroads extend east and west throughout the island. Kingston, capital of Jamaica, is but a short distance away. The Dominican Republic, Haiti, Porto Rico, and the other islands are all in direct connection, and the north coast of South America is just across the Caribbean. Panama, Mexico and southern Mexico are near by. A touring voyage through the islands of the Spanish main makes Havana the logical starting point.

RAILROADS FOR CARRYING TROOPS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Geneva, via Paris, April 9.—Railroad rolling stock is being withdrawn by Italy from the Swiss frontier, it is reported here, for the transportation of troops and military stores in Northern Italy, destined for the region bordering on the Austrian tyrol.

The Lausanne Gazette states that the towns of Mantua, Verona, Peschiera and Legnago, which formed the fortresses in the famous "Quadrilatero" are garrisoned with fully equipped troops which lack only heavy artillery and this will be supplied soon. An aerial fleet is ready for operations.

A Milan dispatch to a Zurich newspaper says that at a mass meeting held last night and attended by five liberal deputies from Milan, a resolution was adopted, characterizing as "absolutely necessary" the participation of Italy in the war.

Bulgaria plans to convert much of the territory acquired from Turkey into a vast tobacco field, producing some of the finest and highest priced tobacco in the world.

APOSTLES USED SLANG WRITING NEW TESTAMENT

Philadelphia, April 9.—Slang was occasionally used by the Apostles in writing the New Testament, although they never lacked reverence and decorum, according to Professor Camden M. Coburn, explorer and archaeologist. In his lecture on "Discovries Concerning the New Testament," delivered here yesterday, he declared that papyrus unearthed during the last 20 years, proves that the writers of the New Testament used the vernacular Greek of that time and not an inspired Greek, different from any other tongue on earth.

Professor Coburn announced that he has lately catalogued 38 copies of the New Testament written on papyrus between the third and the sixth centuries. Twenty-two other copies, he said, have been catalogued by Sir F. G. Kenyon, the London archaeologist. Among the interesting papyri discovered is that of a judge's decision which said:

"Thou hast been worthy of scourging, but I will give thee to the people."

"Sceptics," said Dr. Coburn, "have said that under the law Pilate could not have done exactly this thing. The record refutes the sceptics."

CHARGE MEN WITH USING INVISIBLE
INK IN LETTERS

London, April 9.—Charged with sending military information to Germany by means of invisible ink, three men have been arrested and will be tried in a civil court. The authorities intimate that the case is one of the gravest importance. One of the suspects named Kuepferle professes to be an American. Another, Mueller, claims he is a naturalized Englishman, while the third, who gives the name of Hahn, does not deny that he is a German subject.

ALLIES MUST MAKE COMBINED ATTACK BY LAND AND SEA

(Associated Press Telegrams)
Rome, April 9. King Constantine of Greece, is quoted by the Tribune as declaring in an interview his belief that it will be impossible for the allies to force the Dardanelles without a combined attack by land and sea. His majesty is said to have declared that Greece is in the same position as Italy and other nations which have made military preparations, but have not abandoned their neutrality.
King Constantine, according to the Tribune, asserted that Greeks all over the world would return home enthusiastically to fight for the fatherland if necessary.

AMBULANCE CORPS HAS DEVELOPED A PRETTY ROMANCE

(Associated Press Telegrams)
Paris, April 9.—The fact that the labor of caring for French wounded had not prevented the development of a romance in the American ambulance service became known yesterday when Carroll Greenough of New York, attached to the ambulance at Neuilly, was married in the ambulance chapel to Miss Margaret Virginia Greble, daughter of Edwin Greble of Pasadena, Calif., who has charge of the special diet kitchen connected with the ambulance.

In Milady's Boudoir

BY GWEN SEARS.

When milady sets out with assiduous vehemence to transform herself into a rare beauty by the aid of cosmetics and other such things, she sometimes on facts and sometimes on fancies she little realizes the importance of the eyebrows as a lashes, not known, that they contribute much to the expression of her face.
Straggly or coarse, bushy eyebrows suggest a careless, ill-tempered disposition, while well-arched, graceful brows will create the impression that you are amiable and trustworthy.
The brows should be brushed often, always in the direction in which the hair grows, if you would possess well-groomed eyebrows. The perfect brow is wide toward the nose, beautifully arched and tapers off to a sharp point. The hair should grow short and thick, but not coarse, and it should be flat against the forehead.
The eyebrows may be made to grow if clipped once a month. This should be carefully done, however, or they will become coarse. It is best to ask some one to do the clipping for you. Each hair that appears bent, split or out of condition is clipped to the end. Cutting the lashes in a straight line is inexcusable and would only insure coarse, stubby lashes.
Be sure that your eyelids are in a healthy condition, for often this is the cause of unattractive lashes.

Every Day Etiquette

'Will you tell me how to use a finger bowl at a dinner? Also please tell me whether I should fold the napkin or leave it unfolded when I leave the table?' requested Mildred.
'The tips of the fingers are dipped into the finger bowl when they are passed. Touch the tips with the wet fingers and dry both the tips and fingers lightly on the napkin. If it is a formal dinner leave the napkin unfolded upon rising from the table, directed her aunt.

Your Boys and Girls

It is absolutely criminal to let a child distort its mouth by sucking thumb or fingers. Let no mother deceive herself by saying that the habit is the child's great comfort, a natural soother and pacifier. In later years that child, especially if it is a girl, will call her mother to task for permitting the indulgence.

I have seen mother actually start babies in this fatal habit of finger-sucking by giving them what is known as a "pacifier" or rubber nipple on a ring. It is natural for a baby to suck at something. He is born hungry.
When he is very young he will continue making sucking motions with his mouth after the breast or bottle has been taken away from him. If he happens to whimper the mother thinks the little sucking motion must be satisfied. She gives him the pacifier or actually sticks his thumb in his mouth, and the mischief is begun.

NOTICE TO TELEPHONE SUBSCRIBERS

On March 15th, The Newark Telephone Company mailed the following letter to all telephone users of their Newark City service:

March 15, 1915.

To The Subscriber:

On April 1st, the Telephone Company will make a change in the system of collecting telephone accounts. All bills are to be paid on or before the 10th day of each month in the same manner as is in use by the Gas and Electric Light Companies at the present time.

The gross rate has been increased 25 cents a month for business telephones and 10 cents a month for residence telephones, while the account is paid on or before the 10th day of the month, the same discount will be allowed, leaving the net rate the same as it is at present.

Should a subscriber allow his account to remain unpaid after the 10th day of the month, then the telephone will be disconnected, at full rate, and should the account remain unpaid for 15 days longer, then the service will be permanently discontinued.

This step has become necessary, partly because of the laxity of some subscribers in making settlements, but chiefly on account of the volume of business and the large number of accounts which the Company must handle, so that a uniform and systematic method of collection has become necessary.

We sincerely hope that you can see that this step is necessary and we assure you that we have not taken it without due consideration.

In order to start this method we are obliged to insist that all subscribers' delinquent accounts shall be paid in full to April 1st, on or before that date. Therefore, we ask that should your account be in arrears you make prompt settlement in order to save unnecessary trouble and expense.

Thanking you in advance for your co-operation and assistance in this matter, we beg to remain,

Yours very truly,

THE NEWARK TELEPHONE CO.
Chas. E. Hallander, Gen. Mgr.
In further explanation the Company wishes to announce that postal cards have been mailed for each account, stating the gross rate as filed March 1st, according to the law of Ohio with the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio, to take effect April 1st, 1915. The net rate, the toll, balance due to April 1st, and miscellaneous charges, if any. To obtain the discount, these cards must be presented for payment at the company's office, No. 13 Arcade, on or before April 10th, and the 10th of each succeeding month. Checks or money orders received by mail, will be accepted if postmarked on or before

OF COMMISSIONER APPOINTED BY COURT IN ANOTHER STATE, PUNISHABLE.

Cincinnati Men Refusing to Testify May Face Jail Sentence, by Decision Today.

ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM
Columbus, April 9.—The supreme court, in a decision today, holds that John B. Ellis, of Cincinnati, as a commissioner appointed by a court in another state to take testimony in Ohio, has the right to order a person committed to jail for contempt.

This decision means that unless Julius and George Benckenstein of Cincinnati agree to testify before Ellis in an insurance case, they face a possible jail sentence. The brothers have once refused to testify. At that time they were ordered by Ellis to be sent to jail but were released on a writ of habeas corpus. They asserted Ellis exceeded his authority.

The case in which the decision is given, grew out of a suit by Bernice M. Snyder and her sister of New York against the Berkshire Insurance company to recover on a policy held by their father at the time of his death. The company's defense was that Snyder was in bad health when he took out the policy. To prove this, the company alleged Snyder had purchased a bolt from the Benckenstein's in Cincinnati which was supposed to cure diabetes.

Ellis was appointed by the New York court trying the case to take testimony of the Benckensteins. They refused to testify and the habeas corpus proceedings resulted.

LEE.

Lee
Makes Terms With Grant

By G. LUTHER LANGDON.
[Copyright, 1915, by American Press Association]

THE night sortie by the Confederates under General John B. Gordon on the lines of the Ninth corps at Petersburg March 25, 1865—fifty years ago—was the last aggressive blow by the army of Robert E. Lee. No inkling was given in the Federal camps until the sleeping trench guards on nearly a mile of the lines were aroused by the sounds of attack and the cold steel of a daring enemy was held to their very breasts.

The point selected for the bold enterprise was on the east of the city. Fort Stedman, a bastioned earthwork, with outside batteries, stood on a salient elevation known as Hare's hill.

The Prince George's Court House road ran directly from Petersburg past Hare's hill, crossing both the Confederate and the Federal lines. It seemed feasible for the Confederates to throw a column into this space and add strength to it as it should move down the Federal works toward Grant's left.

Gordon's Daring Plan.

But first it would be necessary to make a breach in these works. This Gordon provided for as follows:

To take Fort Stedman by direct assault at night, then send a separate body of men to each of the rear forts; next to press to the rear of Grant's main line and force him out of his trenches, destroy his pontoons, cut his telegraph wires and rush his flank. The distance from Fort Stedman, where the first blow was to be struck, to the Confederate salient (Crittenden's), where Gordon was to start his storming parties, was sixty rods.

Promptly at 4 a. m. these storming parties, of about 100 each, moved out of the Confederate works and, passing inside of the enemy's picket posts, separated for the work of the hour—the capture of the batteries bearing on Stedman—namely, Fort Haskell on the left, battery 9 on the right and a fortified battery in the rear of Stedman; also a long line of skirmishers deployed to the rear and set out for the interior lines. Some of these reached the United States military railroad running from City Point along the line of Federal camps. Here they cut the telegraph wires.

Meanwhile Confederates swarmed in Fort Stedman. The storming party sent against battery 9 was repulsed and returned to Stedman for re-enforcements, and a column set out along the Federal trenches between these points. A strong defense by Fort Haskell against attack gave Gordon's movement a check on the other flank and limited the success counted upon. It was now growing light. Gordon had not silenced the guns which swept the space between the lines where he intended to move out his main force.

The attempt on Fort Haskell was repeated twice with no success, and as similar movements on battery 9 had failed Gordon's men found themselves hemmed in under a galling fire from batteries much nearer to them now than when they occupied their own lines. It was daylight and the artillery on both sides opened a terrific cannonade. The Federal guns shelling Gordon's men and the Confederate guns firing back upon the batteries and upon the Federal troops drawn up around the breach. Re-enforcements which had been promised did not arrive, and Gordon ordered his men to retire. This they attempted under a storm of bullets, shell and grape.

Lee's Trenches Assailed.

As soon as the result of Gordon's sortie became known on the Federal left General Humphreys, commanding the Second corps, advanced his men beyond the Confederate picket line, but found the main works too strong to carry by assault. General Wright also advanced his corps, the Sixth, in the same way.

After March 25 there was constant firing across the lines, both with artillery and muskets. Sheridan joined the besieging army on the 27th of March, and the movement to the left around Lee's right flank began on the 30th. The left wing of the Army of the Potomac had also been reinforced by Ord's Army of the James, from the north side of the Appomattox. The Army of the Potomac numbered 75,000 for duty; Sheridan added 12,000 and Ord about 17,000, making a total of about 105,000. The Army of the James had a reserve of about 20,000, making a grand total under Grant at this point of 125,000. Lee had a total on his twenty miles of defensive lines of 57,000.

The general movements on the Federal left had crowded the Confederates back to one road running in a general direction southwest and lying between the Federal positions and Hatcher's run. Hatcher's run is a swampy stream and made a good barrier when defended at the forks. About thirteen miles west by south of Petersburg there was a good road crossing the run and leading to the South Side railroad. This railroad has Lynchburg and Danville connections and was of highest importance to Lee in Petersburg.

At Five Forks this road was defended from the Federal positions by intrenchments, and at Dinwiddie Court House, five miles southeast, there were outposts and defenses to guard Five Forks. Sheridan and the infantry corps of Warren, Wright and Humphreys moved together toward the Federal left, and Lee sent out General R. H. Anderson with detached divisions to cope with this strong force. Fitzhugh Lee was in command of the Confederate cavalry in this vicinity, and his chief ordered him to Five Forks.

Fitzhugh advanced to Dinwiddie Court House with his cavalry and fought Sheridan there on the 30th. On the 31st Sheridan's entire force fought Fitzhugh Lee, Rosser and W. H. F. Lee, with some infantry under General George E. Pickett, who commanded the force in the trenches at Five Forks. That night Fitzhugh Lee retired all of his force to the forks, and Warren's Fifth corps was added to Sheridan's command and marched to the left to join in an attack on the intrenchments at Five Forks, where Pickett had five brigades of infantry and ten guns.

Sheridan moved his cavalry so as to threaten the position and engage the enemy, while Warren's troops assaulted a point of the works on the White Oak road. Warren found the point and in a short time had placed Craw-

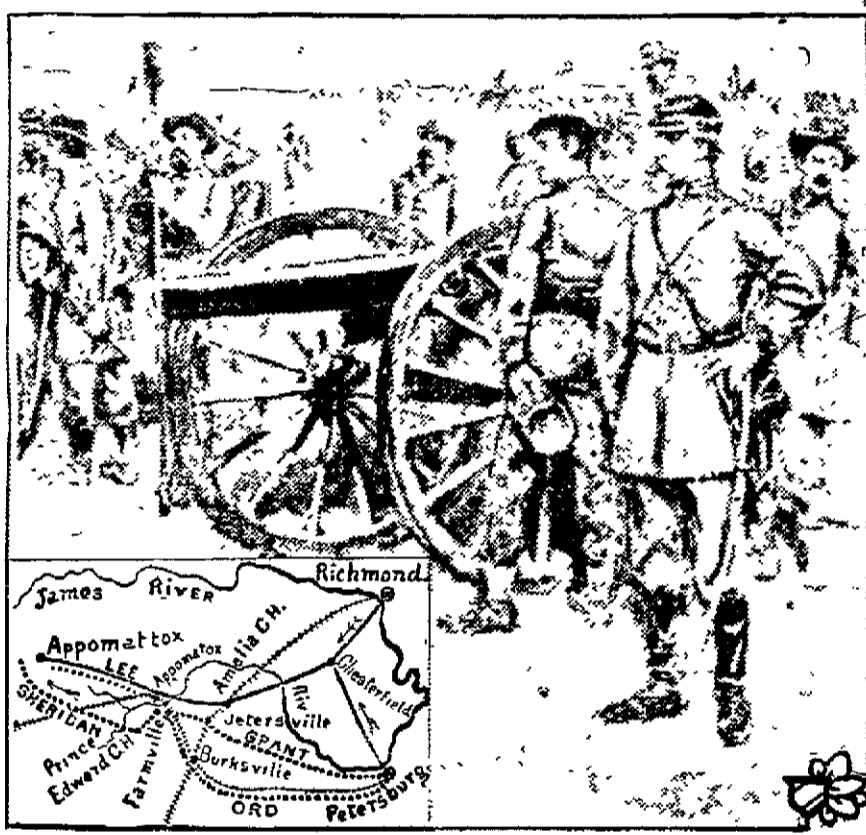

The fall of Forts Whitworth and Gregg and the failure to dislodge General Parke's Ninth corps east of the city decided the fate of that place, and Lee ordered its abandonment that night.

Petersburg was not surrounded, but its southern exits were cut off. It could communicate with Richmond, but Richmond was invested north and east, and the play of twenty miles between the two places and a single outlet to the westward from a point between the two was all that remained now to the army with Lee, the chief reliance of the Confederacy.

Lee's Desperate Retreat.

Some time after midnight on the 3d the magazine at Fort Drewry, on James river, little more than halfway from Petersburg to Richmond, blew up, lighting the whole heavens. It was visible on the Petersburg lines, and as it was followed by other explosions and by fires nearer to Petersburg it became very plain that a general destruction was going on along Lee's twenty miles of defenses. At daylight the Ninth corps pickets advanced to the enemy's trenches and found the camps deserted.

The brigade of General Ralph Ely moved rapidly toward Petersburg on the river road and received the surrender about 4:30 a. m. President Lincoln reached the city about noon. Grant was already there, and there was hearty rejoicing among soldiery and citizens because the tedious siege was over. News came from Richmond that that stronghold had been entered by ford's division squarely in the rear of Pickett's across a covered road. The Confederates lost six guns, 4,500 prisoners and thirteen flags.

Fall of Petersburg.

Promptly on learning that the army had carried Five Forks Grant ordered a demonstration on the Petersburg lines. A bombardment was kept up all night, and Grant began an assault at 4 o'clock on the morning of April 2 with the men of Ord's, Wright's and Parke's commands. Wright's Sixth corps carried all before it and pressing on to the South Side railroad, leaving, however, the original defenses encircling Petersburg on its right rear. This compelled Wright to face about and form a new line.

Ord and Humphreys also carried the works on their front and pressing through to Hatcher's run, cut the Confederate army south of the Appomattox in two. Parke's Ninth corps troops took the outer lines in front of them, but could not carry the inner lines. The Confederate artillery was all in position and swept every foot of ground along the whole front. Several attempts were made by General Gordon, who still commanded in front of the Ninth corps, to retake the ground seized by Parke, but all failed.

The river roads along the Appomattox running into Petersburg from the south were held by Ord and Wright. Near where they passed the Confederate defenses there were two strong works, Fort Gregg and Whitworth. Fort Gregg had a garrison of 200 men and two guns. Fort Whitworth a brigade and three guns. After a stubborn fight Fort Gregg yielded, and Whitworth was then abandoned. There were fifty-five dead Confederates in Fort Gregg, and the assailants lost over 100 killed and 600 wounded.

The Confederates were now completely separated, one column confronting Sheridan and Humphreys, who had swept westward along the track from Petersburg, and the other being in the contracted lines at Petersburg and along the James toward Richmond. Lee was at Petersburg Federal troops at 8 o'clock in the morning. The Army of the Potomac rested around Petersburg, and General Grant went out on the South Side railroad, where Ord was moving on a line parallel to that taken by Lee, the Appomattox river between their marching columns.

The experiences at Petersburg had been repeated at Richmond, with the exception of the assaults. Inside of Richmond confusion reigned all day on the 2d (Sunday), the day of the successful Federal assaults at Petersburg. Dispatches from Lee caused the government to begin a hasty flight.

Four Days' Running Fight.

On the 4th Lee united the Richmond and Petersburg defenders at Amelia Springs. A day was lost in gathering rations, and the weary troops marched toward Danville. Sheridan's cavalry was at Jetersville, on the Danville road, and Lee changed his march toward Farmville. Longstreet's corps had the advance, Anderson's, Ewell's and Gordon's following.

On the 6th the Federal cavalry penetrated between Longstreet and Anderson, and in a running fight Anderson's and Ewell's commands were captured, reducing Lee's army to two corps. On the 7th the retreat was delayed all day at Farmville and High Bridge rationing troops and resisting attacks.

Longstreet, Gordon and Lee reached Appomattox Court House on the 8th, and, in spite of negotiations opened for surrender, the lines were formed to march on and fight on. The corps of Longstreet guarded the rear and flanks, the last defensive line of battle at Appomattox.

The main Confederate strongholds at Mobile, Ala., were holding while Lee feigned surrender, and Johnston's army, the only relieving force to be expected, was retreating westward in North Carolina after fighting off at least in three directions for over a month. For a year the star of the Confederacy had been waning. Heroic battles had been in vain. On April 9 Lee accepted Grant's terms. This was a signal for the army forces to ground arms.

RECIPE TO CLEAR

A PIMPLY SKIN

Pimples are Impurities Seeking an Outlet Through Skin Pores.

Pimples, sores and boils usually result from toxins, poisons and impurities which are generated in the bowels and then absorbed into the blood through the very ducts which should absorb only nourishment to sustain the body.

It is the function of the kidneys to filter impurities from the blood and cast them out in the form of urine, but in many instances the bowels create more toxins and impurities than the kidneys can eliminate, then the blood uses the skin pores as the best means of getting rid of these impurities which often break out all over the skin in the form of pimples.

The surest way to clear the skin of these eruptions, says a noted authority, is to get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of hot water each morning before breakfast for one week. This will prevent the formation of toxins in the bowels. It also stimulates the kidneys to normal activity, thus coaxing them to filter the blood of impurities and clearing the skin of pimples.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent drink which usually makes pimples disappear; cleanses the blood and is excellent for the kidneys as well.

A French and Swiss Military Feat in the Fifteenth Century.

There is something ludicrous in the contrast between the lumbering artillery with which Charles VIII. of France crossed the Alps in the summer of 1494 and the big guns of today that are rapidly transported by railway from one point to another. Count Louis de la Tremoille won great favor in the eyes of the king by his success in conveying over the precipitous slopes of the Apennines the train of fourteen French cannon, each of which was usually drawn by thirty-five horses.

When the French commanders were facing their dilemma the Swiss came to their rescue. These mercenaries, by plundering a captured town in violation of the king's command, had fallen into disfavor. Being anxious to restate themselves in their employer's good graces, they proposed to harness themselves to the guns and to drag them over the mountain. The king promptly accepted their offer.

The master gunner, Jean de la Grange, arranged the technicalities of the undertaking, but La Tremoille supervised its execution. And to him was chiefly due the perfect success of this enterprise—the transport of fourteen enormous cannon over a pathless and precipitous mountain in the scorching July sun.

To prepare a way for the guns, says Winifred Stephens in her book, "The La Tremoille Family," trees had to be cut down, rocks exploded and the ground leveled. In all these works Count Louis personally took part. Clad only in doublet and hose, he worked in harness side by side with the Swiss and with his own hands bore over the mountains helmets full of heavy cannon balls. All the while, with characteristic French patience and cheerfulness, he was encouraging the soldiers by offering rewards to those who should first drag their gun to the summit and providing drink with which to quench the men's parching thirst. Thus encouraged by their heroic captain and inspired by the martial music of trumpet, fife and drum, inciting one another to new efforts by those curious cries that their descendants even today call over the Alpine valleys, the Swiss at length succeeded in dragging all the fourteen cannon up to the top of the mountain.

Then came the descent, which was even more difficult than the ascent had been, for the guns were allowed to go down by their own weight, and the Swiss, roped to the backs of them to steady their descent, were in danger of being carried away by the momentum of the artillery. To La Tremoille's carefulness it was mainly due that not one life was lost during this dangerous business. At the end of two days the count, burned by the sun till he resembled a blackamoor, triumphantly told the king that his artillery train had crossed the mountain and lay safe on the bowlder strewn bank of the river Taro.

A Whist Story.

When Lord Thanet was imprisoned in the Tower of London for the O'Connor riot three of his friends, the Duke of Bedford, the Duke of Laval and Captain Smith, were admitted to play whist with him and remain till the lock up hour of 11. Early in the sitting Captain Smith fell back in a fit of apoplexy, and one of the party rose to call for help. "Stop!" cried another. "We shall be turned out if you make a noise. Let our friend alone until 11. We can play dummy, and he'll be none the worse, for I can read death in his face."

Eyeglass Insurance.

At the club I accidentally knocked off a man's eyeglasses, which splintered on falling. The man replied to my apologies, "Never mind, old chap, they're insured." He gets a new pair for nothing and his policy costs him 1s. 6d. a year. If it is possible to insure against twins and triplets, poor potato crops and the loss of one's keys, why not against the smashing of spectacles and eyeglasses?—London Mirror.

The Ostrich's Legs.

Although the ostrich has powerful legs and can kick like a mule, his limbs are very brittle and are easily broken. He has two toes on each foot, one being armed with a horny nail, which he uses as his principal weapon of warfare. When an unarmed man is attacked by one of these birds the chances are very much against the man unless he can climb a tree or jump over a five foot wall.

Density of the Earth.

The best determinations as to the density of the earth result in 5.06—that is, it is five and two-thirds times more dense than it is composed of water. Granite has a density of 2.5; therefore the interior of the earth must contain enormous quantities of metals to bring its density as a whole up to 5.06.

Pa's Plan.

"Pa, I simply must marry a nobleman."
"I have a scheme that ought to suit everybody."
"What is it?"
"You marry a good American. Then if necessary, I'll buy him a title."—Kansas City Journal.

The Retort Courteous.

He (jealously)—I think you are getting too many flowers and boxes of candy from young Freshleigh. She (sweetly)—Do you? I had not believed thoughts of flowers and candy ever entered your mind.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Obituary

Frances Marion Mitchell.

Frances Marion Mitchell, nine months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Mitchell, 21 North Williams street died at 5 o'clock Friday morning following a short illness. Funeral services will be held at the home Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, Rev. P. H. Frye officiating. Burial at Granville.

Obituary.

Gilbert Leroy Rector, son of Geo. W. and Pearl Bolen Rector, died Sunday evening at the home of E. F. Wickham, Black Hand, O., where he and his mother have lived for the past year. The deceased was born Sept. 7, 1906, and on April 4, 1915, passed into eternal rest, aged 8 years, 6 months and 25 days.

Gilbert was a loving and obedient child, endearing himself to all with whom he came in contact. During his two weeks' sickness his suffering was intense, but he bore it with unusual fortitude, and at all times was very considerate of the comfort of those around him. He showed his appreciation and gratefulness for the last act that was done to bring him comfort or relief. As long as he was conscious and had the strength to utter the words, his "thank you" touched the hearts of those ministering to his wants and are treasured in loving remembrance of his thoughtful solicitude. He was a regular attendant at Sunday school, and during the past winter united with the church, giving himself to the Christ, who has taken him as an Easter lily to brighten the realms above.

Besides his parents and one sister, Dorothy, aged 7 years, Gilbert leaves a host of friends and relatives to mourn his demise.

Funeral services were held at the M. P. church, Hanover, O., Rev. Mitchell officiating. Interment in Hanover cemetery.

Charles Morgan.

Charles Morgan, of East Columbus, who succeeded the late W. H. Tyhurst as first "trick" man at the Pataskala telegraph tower, died Monday night from tubercular trouble. Mr. Morgan had not been able to work for some time past. He once lived at Etna when a boy.—Pataskala Standard.

Climate Failed; Medicine Effective

Sufferers from Tuberculosis often think that medicine will not help them. Fresh air, regular habits and good food and in restoring health, but more is often needed. Many have been restored to health by Eckman's Alternative.

"Gentlemen—Through your instrumentality I have been saved from a premature grave. On December 14, 1904, I was taken with Typhoid Pneumonia, which developed into Tuberculosis. I had been in the hospital for some time, but I was not getting any better. I went to Fort Worth, Texas, and later to Canon City, Colorado. After being there two weeks my physician informed me that my case was hopeless. Three weeks later I returned home, weighing 163 pounds, the doctor having given me no assurance of reaching there alive. On July 24, 1905, I began taking Eckman's Alternative. After taking it for a few days I felt better. I am now stout and well and can do any kind of work about my grain elevator." (Abbreviated.)

Divorce Petition.

Charles Moore has filed a petition in Clerk Bert O. Horton's office asking that he be granted a divorce from Rose Moore. The petition recites that they were married Jan. 18, 1910, and are the parents of two children, aged 3 and 2 years. He alleges that defendant sold all their household furniture and goods belonging to the plaintiff and took the children and abandoned the plaintiff and the home which he had established in Granville, O., and went to the home of her parents in Sandusky, O. He charges her with gross neglect and failure to perform the duties of a wife and asks for a divorce and all proper relief.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets.
These pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids.
It is best not to take calomel, but to take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place. Most headaches, "dizziness" and "lazy feeling" come from constipation and a clogged liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lousy" and "heavy." Note how they "clear" clouded brain and how they "perk up" the spirits. At 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

CHILDREN HATE PILLS, CALOMEL AND CASTOR OIL

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeiters sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

Chaff From Hay Wagons, Dirt Dropping From Contractors' Loads, Etc., a Distinct Menace to Any Community. Prompt Reports to Authorities Necessary.

"In the many small streets in the poorer parts of towns and cities," writes a prominent doctor, "where nuisances occur, a considerable time often elapses before they are reported to the proper authorities. The nuisances continue unabated during this time and may result in infection of some kind. That's not willful negligence. It is simply because it seems to be nobody's business to report those nuisances, which continue until the tenant complains to the real estate agent or it reaches a local department in some other roundabout way."

"Why could not a department of public safety use inspectors and police officers and have them report every occasion if they found that garbage was scattered over the street or was not properly covered, that a main was broken, a drainpipe stopped or that any such nuisance had occurred?"

"When excavations are made through out a city a great deal of the dirt blows about and fills the air with dust. The children of the neighborhood, too, play in the dirt and scatter it about. Why should not the excavated material be covered with a tarpaulin so that the dust would be minimized? Another preventable cause of the dust and dirt comes from the hay wagons which trail their loads through the streets, dropping dust and chaff along the way. Finally, there are the drop bottom carts of the contractors, which carry dirt and refuse from one place to another. Often one sees a trail of earth sitting from the improperly closed trap bottom of these wagons to be scattered and blown about the streets."

"All these and many more things go to make up the dust which especially in the summer makes a haze which the eye can discern. Smoke often causes part of this haze, particularly in damp weather, when it descends in clouds, but dust is largely responsible for it."

"The effect of these dust particles laden with all sorts of disease bearers depends simply on the resistance of the individual who breathes them in with the polluted air. They are responsible for many cases of conjunctivitis and, I think, are an important cause of catarrh and other head, throat and pulmonary troubles."

SOLINGER WILL MEET CRAWFORD MONDAY NIGHT

Neither being satisfied with the results of the former bout, Young Solinger of Newark and George Crawford of New York will again meet in a six round match at Columbus next Monday night. Their management will be a part of the boxing bill offered by the National Athletic Club of Columbus when Battling Reddy and Mike Hayes go 12 rounds in the main mile.

Another feature of this card is the 6-round match between Fred Neese, big Panhandle heavyweight, and Brockie Jones, both have promised rough handling of the other and Columbus boxing fans doubt if the sixth round will be reached.

Ralph May, Solinger's manager, agreed to sell $ worth of tickets here and the time went on sale at May's barber shop and the Bismarck cafe Friday morning.

The Ancients Swatted the Fly

FLYES have always carried disease, even in Biblical times, but their power to do harm has increased with the number of people. It is interesting to note in passing that many important sanitary ordinances, rules and habits prevailed at that period (Leviticus xi, 11; Leviticus (disinfection) xiii and xiv; Hebrews ix, 10, and Mark vii, 4) and long before the Christian era, but that more has been done within the past decade for sanitation than had previously been achieved during the last 2,000 years.

"Oh, she just adores majesty by it self."—Lustige Blatter.
